The vaquita—the world's smallest porpoise—lives only in Mexico's Gulf of California. Only 30 vaquita remain after decades of decline due to entanglement in shrimp fishing gear.

You can help stop the vaquita's extinction. Join the Boycott Mexican Shrimp campaign and tell the Mexican government: Act now or we lose the vaquita forever.

WHAT YOU CAN DO:

1. Don't buy shrimp from Mexico! Check the packaging or ask your server before purchasing shrimp to make sure its not from Mexico.
2. Contact Companies that Buy Mexican Shrimp: More than 30 companies import Mexican shrimp—tell them to be part of the solution, not the problem.
3. Urge the Mexican Government to Act: Write the Mexican government and tell them to ban dangerous gillnets and increase enforcement, before its too late.
